

Equality, Diversity, Cohesion and Integration Screening

As a public authority we need to ensure that all our strategies, policies, service and functions, both current and proposed have given proper consideration to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

A screening process can help judge relevance and provides a record of both the process and decision. Screening should be a short, sharp exercise that determines relevance for all new and revised strategies, policies, services and functions. Completed at the earliest opportunity it will help to determine:

- the relevance of proposals and decisions to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.
- whether or not equality, diversity, cohesion and integration is being/has already been considered, and
- whether or not it is necessary to carry out an impact assessment.

If you can demonstrate you have considered how your proposals impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you have carried out an impact assessment. Please provide specific details for all three areas below (use the prompts for guidance).

- How have you considered equality, diversity, cohesion and integration? (think about the scope of the proposal, who is likely to be affected, equality related information, gaps in information and plans to address, consultation and engagement activities (taken place or planned) with those likely to be affected)

The principal reason for the block waiver is to ensure that services continue to be delivered for the benefit of children and young people, the bulk of who fall into priority groups on the basis of social and economic factors, ethnicity, gender, special educational needs and disabilities, etc. The express intention of the block waiver report is to ensure the continuity of service to ensure that all relevant priority groups receive access to support and services that are relevant to their needs.

- Key findings

(think about any potential positive and negative impact on different equality characteristics, potential to promote strong and positive relationships between groups, potential to bring groups/communities into increased contact with each other, perception that the proposal could benefit one group at the expense of another)

Access to services for all children, young people and their parents dependent upon their needs, in the context of education, social care, employment, training, health, sexual health, mental health, safeguarding, disabilities, advice, information, counselling support, etc.

- Actions

(think about how you will promote positive impact and remove/ reduce negative impact)
