Guidance Notes for Completion of Sub Delegation Scheme Template

Introduction

The authority carries out council and executive functions.

Council functions are specifically identified in regulations issued under the Local Government Act 2000. They are generally quasi-judicial, such as granting planning applications. Full Council and council committees delegate many of their council functions to officers.

All other functions are executive functions. The Leader may delegate these to officers. The Executive Board may also delegate executive functions to officers.

Some functions are “local choice” functions. This means that the authority decides whether to treat them as council or executive functions<sup>9</sup>.

Because the authority has council and executive functions, there are two separate parts to the delegation scheme in Part 3 of the constitution:

- Officer delegation scheme (council functions) – part 3 section 2c; and
- Officer delegation scheme (executive functions) – part 3 section 3e.

Both parts of the delegation scheme set out:

- general delegations to all directors; and
- delegations to specific directors.

Some directors have also been delegated authority under local choice functions – Part 3 Section 1.

All directors have delegated authority under the Articles – Part 2.

An officer may carry out their functions through other officers. To do so, they must sub-delegate the functions <sup>n</sup> to appropriate officers. These officers must be of suitable experience or seniority.

Your sub-delegation scheme sets out how you as the Director of Environment and Housing have sub-delegated your functions, to other officers.

The Template

This template has been designed to ensure consistency of approach by Directors in their sub-delegations to other officers. The template should be followed by:

- Directors;
- the Chief Executive;
- the Deputy Chief Executive;
- Assistant Chief Executive; and

References to directors refer to all of the officers listed above, unless otherwise specified.

Guidance on how to complete this template is inserted as endnotes. These are written in blue, and highlighted in yellow. If you point your cursor over an endnote, the guidance will come up on screen. You may wish to print the guidance out and read through it, before you start to complete the template.

You will also need to refer to the council's constitution. Please use the most up to date version, which is available on the internet.

This template follows the layout and contents of the officer delegations as they are set out in the constitution.

By using this template, you can be sure your sub-delegation scheme is comprehensive. You will also be able to amend the scheme easily, if the delegations to you set out in the constitution are amended in the future.

If there aren't any functions delegated to you in a particular section of the constitution, please keep the table in your scheme, but insert "not applicable". That way, it is clear that all sections have been considered. The table will also serve as a prompt when you come to review the scheme, as you may be delegated functions under one of these sections in the future.

Although your sub-delegation scheme should follow the template, it is up to you whether and how you sub-delegate your functions.

If you decide not to sub-delegate a particular function, please list the function in the appropriate place in the scheme, but insert “not delegated” in the column which identifies the officer to whom sub-delegated. If you do this, it will be clear that the function has not simply been overlooked.

We will review this template annually, after the Council’s Annual Meeting.

You will need to review your scheme after the annual meeting of the council, each year, when we have sent you the revised template, and the Council and Executive have approved their schemes of delegation. Your revised scheme should be approved the day following the annual meeting, so it is clear that sub-delegations are in place for each municipal year.

You will also need to review your scheme:

- whenever there is a change to your delegation during the year; and
- whenever there is a change to the structure of your directorate.

If you do not keep your sub-delegation scheme up to date, decisions your staff make may be challenged by way of judicial review.

You may wish to timetable a review every 6 months, perhaps at your DMT, to see if any changes are necessary.

Please send a copy of your updated scheme to the Head of Governance Services.

In the interests of saving resources please do not print the Guidance Notes for Completion of Sub Delegation Scheme Template when you print your delegation scheme.

a Officers

Please insert the post-title of an officer, and not their name.

You may sub delegate to any officer of suitable experience or seniority, whether in your directorate, or another directorate, including to other directors.

You may also sub-delegate the same function to more than one officer. You should ensure that it is clear if one officer takes priority over another.

It is up to you to make sure that officers are clear on the nature of and extent of any authority to carry out functions which are sub-delegated by you to them. Check that the operational position within your directorate is consistent with your sub-delegation scheme. Have you sub-delegated authority to all officers who need it?

b Terms and conditions

You may limit or restrict a sub-delegation, by imposing a term or condition.

For example you may:

- impose a financial limit;
- impose an exception in relation to any matter where you direct that the matter should be referred to you or to a relevant committee or the Executive Board (depending on whether it is a council or executive function);
- require particular types of decision to be referred to you;
- require an officer to consult specified people before making a particular type of decision;
- sub-delegate a function to a particular officer “in relation to matters within their remit”;
- state that the function does not extend to making key / significant operational decisions; or
- limit the delegation to apply only in specified circumstances, or in relation to specific functions.

You must make sure that the authority you have sub-delegated is clearly defined. For example, if you wish to restrict an officer’s sub-delegation to preclude decisions about “politically sensitive” matters, or matters which have “significant implications”, then your scheme should be clear how these decisions can be identified.

c Sub-delegation to other officers - definitions

For brevity, if you delegate a number of different functions to the same group of officers, you may wish to complete this table.

You should:

- insert a generic description (for example, “Chief Officers” or “Managers”) in the first column; and
- list all of the posts that come within the description in the second column.

You can then insert the appropriate definition against any function in the scheme which you want to sub-delegate to all of the post-holders within the definition.

d Absence of post-holder

The absence provisions provide for those matters which you have chosen not to delegate (whether in their entirety or when certain terms and conditions are triggered) to be dealt with in your absence on annual leave or through illness. Those matters which you delegate elsewhere in this scheme remain delegated to those officers in your absence and therefore do not need to be included here.

You may decide that in your absence:

- particular functions should be carried out by different officers; or
- one officer should carry out all of your functions (for example your deputy director if you have one).

Statutory posts

Article 12, Part 2 of the constitution already sets out who is the deputy for the statutory posts of Head of Paid Service, Monitoring Officer and Chief Finance Officer. If you are one of these post-holders, you do not therefore need to include your statutory functions within this scheme of sub-delegation, as these have already been effectively sub-delegated in the constitution. However, you may wish to include them for completeness, with an appropriate reference to Article 12.

e Council functions – specific to post-holder

You need to check through Section 2C of Part 3 to see whether you have been specifically delegated any council functions including Local Choice Functions where the decision making body is the Council. Not all directors have.

Because they are often quasi-judicial, council functions may be particularly likely to be subject to challenge through the courts. So, please specify in your scheme the post-title of all officers to whom you wish to sub-delegate authority for each particular council function. This should include officers who are carrying out administrative tasks (for example issuing a licence), where these tasks are council functions.

You may, however, impose different terms and conditions, according to the seniority or experience of a particular post-holder.

You must also include any exceptions which will apply to officers under the sub-delegation scheme, because they apply to you. For example, some licenses can only be granted by a director where no objections have been received. Obviously, you can only delegate authority, where you yourself have authority.

f Council functions in relation to approvals, licences, permissions or registrations which come within the post-holder's authority:

You will need to complete this table only if you have authority in relation to any approvals, licences, permissions or registrations under your specific delegation in the officer delegation scheme (council functions).

If you do have delegated authority, please insert the type of approval, licence, permissions or registration in column 2, by referring to the number of the function on the table above.

g Council functions – Maladministration/health and safety/personnel matters/byelaws

These council functions are delegated to all directors and chief officers, so you will need to complete this table.

h Executive functions specific to post-holder

You need to include here any local choice functions which are the responsibility of the executive and have been delegated specifically to you. These are listed in the officer delegation scheme (executive functions) with the other executive functions delegated to you by the leader.

The officer delegation scheme (executive functions) sets out delegation to specific post-holders by exception. That is, the delegations are framed very widely, but are subject to any exceptions set out in the footnotes below your delegation in the Constitution.

You should set out the delegations to you in the officer delegation scheme (executive functions), in the order in which they are set out in the constitution. This way, it will be clear that they have all been included.

However, because the descriptions of these functions are very broad, you might need to break them down into more specific services, or provide more detail about them.

It is particularly important make sure you include the post-title of any officer who you wish to authorise to make key, major or significant operational decisions about a function, in your sub-delegation scheme. Delegated decision notices for these types of decisions, should only be signed by officers who are specified as having authority under your scheme.

You should also identify any decisions which officers make under your authority, which are particularly likely to be challenged. These will include decisions which affect the rights of particular individual in any way.

Under the officer delegation scheme (executive functions), the authority of directors is subject to an exception where an appropriate Executive Member directs that a matter be referred to the Executive Board.

This exception must therefore also apply to any officer who is carrying out a function sub-delegated to them by a director. It must be included in directors' sub-delegation schemes.

Authorising officers

Some legislation requires an officer to be authorised to carry out a particular function, such as entering onto land or appearing in court. These officers should be individually authorised i.e. by name, and should have a signed certificate which they can produce to show that they have been properly authorised.

You should not insert the names of these authorised officers into your sub-delegation scheme here. You should insert the post-title of any officer who is to authorise officers on your behalf.

You should, however, also keep a separate record of any officer who is an authorised officer, together with details of:

- who authorised them,
- when they were authorised; and
- the functions for which they are authorised officers.

K Corporate Procedures

You need to include any functions you wish to sub-delegate which you have under, for example,:

- Financial Procedure Rules;
- Contract Procedure Rules; and
- Access to Information Rules

if they haven't been included elsewhere in your scheme.

Functions under employment procedures should not be sub-delegated here, but in 16. below.

Delegation of functions under Articles

Article 14.5 delegates the signature of contracts as set out in the Article to all directors and chief officers with concurrent delegations.

Articles 14 (finance, contract and legal matters), 15 (review and revision of the constitution) and 16 (suspension, interpretation and publication of the constitution) set out various functions of the Chief Executive and the City Solicitor which may need to be sub-delegated by those officers.

m Delegation of functions (miscellaneous)

Please insert here any other functions which have not been sub-delegated elsewhere in the scheme. These should include:

- functions which legislation specifies are the specific responsibility of a post-holder, and so have not been delegated to the post-holder by the council or executive;
- functions which have been delegated to you under another section of the constitution, for example, the outside bodies procedure rules;
- functions which have been sub-delegated to you by another director, and therefore are not recorded in the constitution; and
- functions which have been sub-delegated to you for less than 6 months and therefore are not recorded in the constitution.

n Functions

Only functions which have been delegated for more than 6 months are legally required to be recorded in the delegation scheme.
