

Equality, Diversity, Cohesion and Integration Screening

As a public authority we need to ensure that all our strategies, policies, service and functions, both current and proposed have given proper consideration to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

A screening process can help judge relevance and provides a record of both the process and decision. Screening should be a short, sharp exercise that determines relevance for all new and revised strategies, policies, services and functions.

Completed at the earliest opportunity it will help to determine:

- the relevance of proposals and decisions to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.
- whether or not equality, diversity, cohesion and integration is being/has already been considered, and
- whether or not it is necessary to carry out an impact assessment.

If other, please specify

2. Please provide a brief description of what you are screening

A partnership bid led by Leeds City Council involving Bradford City Council and 24 third sector partners has been submitted to the ESIF/Big Lottery Building Better Opportunities Fund to deliver early intervention and prevention support to families. Following the formal announcement on the success of the bid LCC will be seeking to enter into a partnership agreement and provide grants totalling approximately £3m over two years and to create a small number of posts to assist with the management of the project. The project will be known as Stronger Families.

The overall aim of the project is to work with families who are facing a number of barriers to gaining employment including children with low school attendance, anti-social behaviour or criminal activity and mental health issues to provide early intervention and preventative support to enable them to overcome these barriers and enter or move closer to the job market. Specific targets are set for the project including the number of people with a disability and the number of people from a BME background who the project should work with across both Leeds and Bradford.

3. Relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

All the council's strategies/policies, services/functions affect service users, employees or the wider community – city wide or more local. These will also have a greater/lesser relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

The following questions will help you to identify how relevant your proposals are.

When considering these questions think about age, carers, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation. Also those areas that impact on or relate to equality: tackling poverty and improving health and well-being.

Questions	Yes	No
Is there an existing or likely differential impact for the different equality characteristics?		X
Have there been or likely to be any public concerns about the policy or proposal?		X
Could the proposal affect how our services, commissioning or procurement activities are organised, provided, located and by whom?	X
Could the proposal affect our workforce or employment practices?		X
Does the proposal involve or will it have an impact on <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Eliminating unlawful discrimination, victimisation and harassment • Advancing equality of opportunity • Fostering good relations 	X

If you have answered no to the questions above please complete sections 6 and 7

If you have answered yes to any of the above and;

- Believe you have already considered the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration within your proposal please go to section 4.
- Are not already considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration within your proposal please go to section 5.

4. Considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

If you can demonstrate you have considered how your proposals impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you have carried out an impact assessment.

Please provide specific details for all three areas below (use the prompts for guidance).

- How have you considered equality, diversity, cohesion and integration? (think about the scope of the proposal, who is likely to be affected, equality related information, gaps in information and plans to address, consultation and engagement activities (taken place or planned) with those likely to be affected)

In order to inform the stage two bid significant consultation took place with a range of stakeholders including Housing Services, food banks, clusters and mental health professionals. Consultation was also undertaken directly with vulnerable families through an exercise managed by Voluntary Action Leeds who are one of the strategic partners on the bid. The bid includes 24 delivery partners who were selected through a competitive process for their ability to demonstrate the skills, experience and understanding required to work with and positively engage vulnerable families to achieve the project outcomes. The majority of delivery partners and organisations already working across Leeds and Bradford many of which are community based organisations already working within the diverse communities across both cities.

A partnership agreement is being developed which will be issued to all partners and will include requirements regarding equality, diversity, cohesion and integration including expectations around interpretation, religious and cultural considerations and will ensure fair access to the service.

In addition a project board will be established to oversee service delivery will include representation from key partners including service users.

- Key findings (think about any potential positive and negative impact on different equality characteristics, potential to promote strong and positive relationships between groups, potential to bring groups/communities into increased contact with each other, perception that the proposal could benefit one group at the expense of another)

Targets for the project set by Big Lottery include specific targets regarding the number of disabled participants and participants from BME backgrounds the services are expected to work over the two year programme across Leeds and Bradford.

We expect the services under the project to proactively target and engage those vulnerable families most in need of this support whilst ensuring any specific targets set by Big Lottery are met.

This new investment into both Leeds and Bradford will support families to address barriers to employment through a combination of key worker support and specialist interventions. The services will support families who do not yet meet the threshold for intensive support such as the national Troubled Families Programme (known as Families First in Leeds) but without early intervention support may go on to do so. The support will assist families in gaining sustainable employment and will therefore have a positive impact on those families with whom the services work.

The project will be overseen by a Project Manager with support from contract management function from the Children's Commissioning team, a quality assurance officer and finance manager. Ongoing quality assurance with governance from the Project Board, including partners and key stakeholders, will monitor performance of individual providers and the partnership as a whole to ensure the services are both accessible to minority groups on an ongoing basis and meets the specific targets for engagement set by Big Lottery.

- Actions

(think about how you will promote positive impact and remove/ reduce negative impact)

The partnership agreement will include monitoring requirements for each provider which will include the equality characteristics of those being supported to allow the Project Manager and contract management to monitor the ability of providers to engage and support minority groups.

Performance reporting will also analyse outcomes achieved to allow us to identify if there is any disparity in outcomes achieved between equality groups.

Access to services and outcomes will be monitored at an individual provider level by the Contracts and Quality Assurance Officer and across the partnership by the Project Board.

A key strand of the partnership is the commitment from providers to share best practice both between providers and across Leeds and Bradford. Mechanisms for sharing best practice are to be developed and this is to include engagement with those groups or communities who may traditionally be more difficult to engage with for a variety of reasons.

5. If you are not already considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you will need to carry out an impact assessment.
