Summer 2017

End of life planning - everything you wanted to know but were too afraid to ask

Temple Newsam House hosts this Outer East Community Committee session

Death is a difficult subject but, whatever your age, one we will all need to face at some point. The session being held by the Outer East Community Committee on Tuesday 12th September will offer a chance to talk about related topics in a relaxed atmosphere.

Held at Temple Newsam House, this will be an informal discussion where you can find out more and, if you wish, ask open questions directly to people working in this sector.

The workshop will run from 5:15pm - 6.30 pm and admission to the house for the meeting is free along with the refreshments. People attending also have the chance to tour the house in advance of the meeting starting at 3pm. Everyone is also welcome to observe the Outer East Community Committee business meeting, which precedes this discussion, running from 4-5pm.

We hope to see you there!
