Equality, Diversity, Cohesion and Integration Screening

As a public authority we need to ensure that all our strategies, policies, service and functions, both current and proposed have given proper consideration to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

A screening process can help judge relevance and provides a record of both the process and decision. Screening should be a short, sharp exercise that determines relevance for all new and revised strategies, policies, services and functions. Completed at the earliest opportunity it will help to determine:

- the relevance of proposals and decisions to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.
- whether or not equality, diversity, cohesion and integration is being/has already been considered, and
- whether or not it is necessary to carry out an impact assessment.

2. Please provide a brief description of what you are screening

Since Public Health transferred into the Council, it has undertaken a programme of service reviews and procurements to secure long term commissioning arrangements for key public health services. Most of these projects are either well underway or have been completed with new services already in operation.

There is still an outstanding review of Council wide commissioned services for street workers to be undertaken. This report is therefore seeking approval for a new one year contract (with extension provision) to be awarded to the existing provider (Basis) to provide additional time for public health to participate in this review. The value of this interim contract is £36,520 per annum.

The report is also seeking approval for a new 2 year contract (with extension provision) with Leeds Community Healthcare NHS Trust who provide a specialist library and information service for public health, which enables the public health specialists to have access to large evidence base for their work. The value of this interim contract is £9,225 per annum.

3. Relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

All the council's strategies/policies, services/functions affect service users, employees or the wider community – city wide or more local. These will also have a greater/lesser relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

The following questions will help you to identify how relevant your proposals are.

When considering these questions think about age, carers, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation. Also those areas that impact on or relate to equality: tackling poverty and improving health and well-being.

4. Considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration If you can demonstrate you have considered how your proposals impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you have carried out an impact assessment. Please provide specific details for all three areas below (use the prompts for guidance). • How have you considered equality, diversity, cohesion and integration? (think about the scope of the proposal, who is likely to be affected, equality related information, gaps in information and plans to address, consultation and engagement activities (taken place or planned) with those likely to be affected) • Key findings (think about any potential positive and negative impact on different equality characteristics, potential to promote strong and positive relationships between groups, potential to bring groups/communities into increased contact with each other, perception that the proposal could benefit one group at the expense of another) • Actions (think about how you will promote positive impact and remove/ reduce negative impact)
