The Lifelong Learning Centre

- The Lifelong Learning Centre is a multi-disciplinary School offering undergraduate courses, and a specialist service supporting mature and part-time learners across University of Leeds.
- Our courses encourage and support student diversity, focusing on students from under-represented groups/those without traditional qualifications.
- We support current and prospective mature, part-time and Foundation level students, and apprentices.
- The Communities and Partnerships team works with community organisations and education providers in areas of low participation in HE in Leeds and West Yorkshire to create opportunities for adults to access HE.

Community engagement aims: widen opportunities for adults to access higher education & make informed choices

What we do:

- Offer positive messages about the benefits of further and higher education
- Bust myths around higher education for adults e.g. finance, entry qualifications
- Provide role models for adults from under-represented groups in HE
- Impartial information advice and guidance for adults without degrees

How we do it:

- Community engagement approach: long term & sustainable, aiming to support the communities we work with

Where:

- Areas of low participation in Leeds and Wakefield

Key Messages for adults

You can go to university at any age/stage in your life

Universities and colleges welcome adult students from diverse backgrounds

Life experience counts

No 'standard' route for an adult to get into higher education; depends on individual experience and qualifications

Figuring out about the finance is crucial

Community-engaged learning through negotiated outreach

- Negotiated taster sessions on topic useful & relevant to group.
- Talks to workers on pathways into HE for adults
- Visits to the university made accessible through help with travel, include lunch & childcare support where possible.
- Support community/adult learning organisations where possible through university volunteers research

Informal drop-ins and general information events at university for adults

What's coming up at the L in Autumn ?

- Studying as a Mature Student session with campus tour, 6th September
- Jumpstart taster course, 11th October
- Free, impartial Advice & Guidance service

Jumpstart taster course for Adults

Runs every October and February: next course 11th October, 5-7pm

Lifelong Learning Centre

UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS

JUMPSTART

• Next course 11 Oct 2023

JumpStart is a short, free course aimed at adult learners who are thinking about whether university might be an option for them.

- A fun and immersive experience of learning within a Higher Education setting
- Meet other adult learners with similar interests
- Discuss your options with tutors
- Make an informed decision about Higher Education

"It's been really great and has helped me a lot. I went from wanting to do something more, but not really knowing what and believing I can't do university, to now feeling so much more confident and believing that I can succeed"

JumpStart runs in February and November

SCHEDULE

JumpStart is run on Wednesday evenings from 5:00pm - 7:00pm for the duration of 8 weeks. There are 2 additional Saturday sessions within this 8 weeks, making it 10 sessions in total.

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS
We usually expect students to be working towards or have achieved GCSE English and Maths at grade C/4 or above. We also greatly value life skills and experience and expect learners to show their commitment to the course as places are limited.

WHAT COULD I DO NEXT?
Progression from JumpStart will depend on meeting specific entry requirements for particular courses. Providing that you successfully complete this programme and meet these entry requirements, you may be able to move onto foundation year study in higher education.
