The report of the Leeds Health and Wellbeing Board summarised that Leeds has an ambition to be the best place to train and work in at any age. We have a health and care workforce that is highly motivated, creative and caring, working together to deliver high-quality care and improve health outcomes in Leeds. A key part of achieving this ambition is creating 'an inclusive, valued and well-trained workforce'. The report of Synergi-Leeds Partnership outlines that the partnership is an innovative and ambitious citywide approach focused on addressing ethnic inequalities in mental health. The partnership is jointly led by Leeds and York Partnership Foundation Trust (LYPFT) and Public Health in Leeds City Council (LCC), and the core programmes are delivered and supported by colleagues in LYPFT, LCC, Volition and Leeds Involving People. The expanding network or 'community of practice' of statutory and voluntary sector organisations plays a vital role in advancing the priorities outlined in the Leeds All-Age Mental Health Strategy and specifically in 'reducing the over representation of people from Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic communities admitted in crisis'.
