Do you think this event is a good thing?

All the feedback forms except one stated attendees thought the event was a good idea.

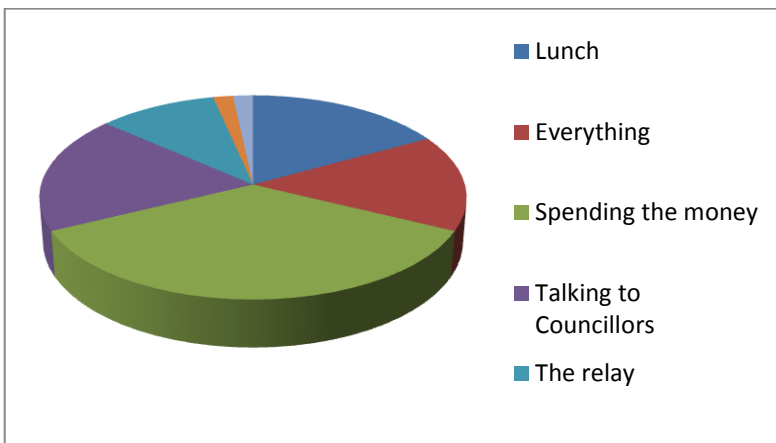

Richard Cracknell from Leeds City Council Voice and Influence Team and Kim Bright from the Communities Team led an exercise involving all the young people in a flipchart relay race. Two teams were formed and each young person was asked to write down something about what they liked and what was good about their area. The second part of the exercise asked them to look at what they didn't like and what could be improved.

Four Councillors from the Inner North West Community Committee joined the young people during the morning for a Q & A session.

Cllrs Jonathan Pryor, Christine Towler and Johnathan and Sue Bentley were asked to respond to a series of questions from the young people ranging from what how old do you have to be to be a Councillor, is equality important to you, what can you do about all the rubbish on the streets to how did they engage with young people?

Children in the West North West

The afternoon session saw young people and Councillors sitting down together talking about how to spend £24,000 of Youth Activity Fund (the budget for 2015/16). A menu of projects was available and for the 8 different groups to talk about and decide which represented value for money and looked fun.

The groups were then asked to put their chosen activities in order of preference. This information will be used to look at priorities in the coming year and help Councillors in allocating funding for activities for young people.

The feedback sheets from the 8 groups were amalgamated and the activities rated from 1 – 19 in terms of popularity.

All the young people received a certificate to thank them for attending and representing the Inner North West at the engagement event. They were complimented on their excellent behaviour and were a credit to their individual schools; their contributions are valued and will form part of decision making for allocating funding for future children’s activities in the Inner North West.
