

Equality, Diversity, Cohesion and Integration Screening

As a public authority we need to ensure that all our strategies, policies, service and functions, both current and proposed have given proper consideration to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

A screening process can help judge relevance and provides a record of both the process and decision. Screening should be a short, sharp exercise that determines relevance for all new and revised strategies, policies, services and functions. Completed at the earliest opportunity it will help to determine:

- the relevance of proposals and decisions to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.
- whether or not equality, diversity, cohesion and integration is being/has already been considered, and
- whether or not it is necessary to carry out an impact assessment.

The following questions will help you to identify how relevant your proposals are.

When considering these questions think about age, carers, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation and any other relevant characteristics (for example socio-economic status, social class, income, unemployment, residential location or family background and education or skills levels).

- Are not already considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration within your proposal please go to section 5.

4. Considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

If you can demonstrate you have considered how your proposals impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you have carried out an impact assessment. Please provide specific details for all three areas below (use the prompts for guidance).

• How have you considered equality, diversity, cohesion and integration? (think about the scope of the proposal, who is likely to be affected, equality related information, gaps in information and plans to address, consultation and engagement activities (taken place or planned) with those likely to be affected)

The Innovation Programme has already been subject to an initial EDCI assessment as part of the original DDN process.

The Innovation Programme will be subject to full, independent evaluation by the University of Bedfordshire. The University have been selected by central government as our evaluation partners. The evaluation will consider the impact on outcomes, practice and the organisation and processes of the Council. The outcomes of this evaluation will be shared with Executive Board.

- Key findings
(think about any potential positive and negative impact on different equality characteristics, potential to promote strong and positive relationships between groups, potential to bring groups/communities into increased contact with each other, perception that the proposal could benefit one group at the expense of another)
 To be confirmed once evaluation is complete in 2020

- Actions
(think about how you will promote positive impact and remove/ reduce negative impact)
 The Innovation Programme is a pilot of new approaches. Once the evaluation is complete its impact on supporting equality and diversity will be considered and will inform future plans for the service.

5. If you are not already considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you will need to carry out an impact assessment.*
