

Equality, Diversity, Cohesion and Integration Screening

As a public authority we need to ensure that all our strategies, policies, service and functions, both current and proposed have given proper consideration to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

A screening process can help judge relevance and provides a record of both the process and decision. Screening should be a short, sharp exercise that determines relevance for all new and revised strategies, policies, services and functions.

Completed at the earliest opportunity it will help to determine:

- the relevance of proposals and decisions to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.
- whether or not equality, diversity, cohesion and integration is being/has already been considered, and
- whether or not it is necessary to carry out an impact assessment.

All the council's strategies/policies, services/functions affect service users, employees or the wider community – city wide or more local. These will also have a greater/lesser relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

The following questions will help you to identify how relevant your proposals are.

When considering these questions think about age, carers, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation and any other relevant characteristics (for example socio-economic status, social class, income, unemployment, residential location or family background and education or skills levels).

If you have answered yes to any of the above and;

- Are not already considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration within your proposal please go to section 5.

4. Considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

If you can demonstrate you have considered how your proposals impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you have carried out an impact assessment.

Please provide specific details for all three areas below (use the prompts for guidance).

- How have you considered equality, diversity, cohesion and integration? (think about the scope of the proposal, who is likely to be affected, equality related information, gaps in information and plans to address, consultation and engagement activities (taken place or planned) with those likely to be affected)

I have considered how this contract will affect equality, diversity, cohesion and integration in Leeds communities. Specific consideration has been given to the implications of having new suppliers delivering the services under the contract and the potential impacts for local residents and users of this change.

- Key findings (think about any potential positive and negative impact on different equality characteristics, potential to promote strong and positive relationships between groups, potential to bring groups/communities into increased contact with each other, perception that the proposal could benefit one group at the expense of another)

There is potential for one or more changes in processing facilities for the wastes collected under this contract.

The processing facilities offer both opportunities in the form of employment and engagement with communities but also the potential for negative impacts in the form of nuisance.

- Actions (think about how you will promote positive impact and remove/ reduce negative impact)

Before the contract is awarded the impact will be managed through ensuring appropriate planning permission and site licencing is in place. This makes sure the site is fit for purpose. Following award the impacts of the site on the surrounding area will continue to be monitored as part of ongoing contract management and the Due Diligence process.

The tender pack will be written in such a way as to maximise positives and minimise negatives. The evaluation criteria will reward positive CSR elements and social value that an organisation can bring to the communities of Leeds. The performance related incentive mechanism will control scenarios where sites are causing problems for residents.
