

As a public authority we need to ensure that all our strategies, policies, service and functions, both current and proposed have given proper consideration to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

A screening process can help judge relevance and provides a record of both the process and decision. Screening should be a short, sharp exercise that determines relevance for all new and revised strategies, policies, services and functions.

Completed at the earliest opportunity it will help to determine:

- the relevance of proposals and decisions to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.
- whether or not equality, diversity, cohesion and integration is being or has already been considered, and
- whether or not it is necessary to carry out an impact assessment.

3. Relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

All the council's strategies and policies, service and functions affect service users, employees or the wider community – city wide or more local. These will also have a greater or lesser relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

The following questions will help you to identify how relevant your proposals are.

When considering these questions think about age, carers, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation. Also those areas that impact on or relate to equality: tackling poverty and improving health and well-being.

Questions	Yes	No
Is there an existing or likely differential impact for the different equality characteristics?		X
Have there been or likely to be any public concerns about the policy or proposal?		X
Could the proposal affect how our services, commissioning or procurement activities are organised, provided, located and by whom?		X
Could the proposal affect our workforce or employment practices?		X
Does the proposal involve or will it have an impact on <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Eliminating unlawful discrimination, victimisation and harassment • Advancing equality of opportunity • Fostering good relations 		X

If you have answered no to the questions above please complete sections 6 and 7

If you have answered yes to any of the above and;

- Believe you have already considered the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration within your proposal please go to section 4.

- Are not already considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration within your proposal please go to section 5.

4. Considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

If you can demonstrate you have considered how your proposals impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you have carried out an impact assessment.

Please provide specific details for all three areas below (use the prompts for guidance).

- How have you considered equality, diversity, cohesion and integration? (think about the scope of the proposal, who is likely to be affected, equality related information, gaps in information and plans to address, consultation and engagement activities (taken place or planned) with those likely to be affected)

All of the above contracts deliver projects for adults with Learning Disabilities in Leeds. The recommendation to award interim contracts with these projects will ensure continuity of service, with no proposed changes to current service delivery as part of these interim contracts. However, any adjustments to the service model or service costs following ongoing reviews will involve consultations with the provider, service users, carers and other stakeholders.

All of these services were created following extensive consultation with key stakeholders, including people with learning disabilities and carers, in conjunction with the Learning Disabilities day opportunities modernisation project. These services have all continued to receive positive feedback from those that access them.

Moreover, ongoing contract management takes place with the services through contract monitoring meetings, regular communication and quarterly monitoring submissions. This contract management has demonstrated good outcomes for people accessing these services.

- Key findings (think about any potential positive and negative impact on different equality characteristics, potential to promote strong and positive relationships between groups, potential to bring groups/communities into increased contact with each other, perception that the proposal could benefit one group at the expense of another)

These services support and promote integration and independence of adults with Learning Disabilities.

There is a review taking place across all current Learning Disability provision for adults in Leeds. One aspect of this review will be to analyse the expenditure on Learning Disability day opportunities across the city, including services that we commission through a grant or contract and services that are 'spot-purchased' on an individual basis. This work involves a large piece of data gathering to understand the whole offer in and around the city, and the value for money of each service. It is anticipated that this will inform future options in terms of re-commissioning.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Actions (think about how you will promote positive impact and remove/ reduce negative impact) The proposed interim contracts will continue to be performance managed by officers in the Working Age Adults Commissioning Team. This includes regular reviewing of information provided through quarterly monitoring submissions, regular meeting with the provider to review and discuss performance and annual financial monitoring. As part of this monitoring, equality characteristics are considered.
