

As a public authority we need to ensure that all our strategies, policies, service and functions, both current and proposed have given proper consideration to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

A screening process can help judge relevance and provides a record of both the process and decision. Screening should be a short, sharp exercise that determines relevance for all new and revised strategies, policies, services and functions. Completed at the earliest opportunity it will help to determine:

- the relevance of proposals and decisions to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.
- whether or not equality, diversity, cohesion and integration is being/has already been considered, and
- whether or not it is necessary to carry out an impact assessment.

1. Title: Families First 'Earned Autonomy' – continuation of EA Status

Is this a:

Strategy / Policy
 Service / Function
 Other

If other, please specify

2. Please provide a brief description of what you are screening

This document is screening the EDCI implications of the proposed continued plans for use of Earned Autonomy funding to support the transformation of early help support for children and families in Leeds. The main elements of this include continued funding of domestic violence and abuse coordinators, mental health coordinators and substance use coordinators, investment in the early help arrangements at the front door, the development of family and community hubs and specialist therapeutic services, workforce development and in the better joining up of early help systems and databases.

3. Relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

All the council’s strategies/policies, services/functions affect service users, employees or the wider community – city wide or more local. These will also have a greater/lesser relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

The following questions will help you to identify how relevant your proposals are.

When considering these questions think about age, carers, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation and any other relevant characteristics (for example socio-economic status, social class, income, unemployment, residential location or family background and education or skills levels).

Questions	Yes	No
Is there an existing or likely differential impact for the different equality characteristics?	X
Have there been or likely to be any public concerns about the policy or proposal?		X
Could the proposal affect how our services, commissioning or procurement activities are organised, provided, located and by whom?	X
Could the proposal affect our workforce or employment practices?		X
Does the proposal involve or will it have an impact on <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Eliminating unlawful discrimination, victimisation and harassment • Advancing equality of opportunity • Fostering good relations 	X

If you have answered no to the questions above please complete sections 6 and 7

If you have answered yes to any of the above and;

- Believe you have already considered the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration within your proposal please go to section 4.
- Are not already considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration within your proposal please go to section 5.

4. Considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

If you can demonstrate you have considered how your proposals impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you have carried out an impact assessment. Please provide specific details for all three areas below (use the prompts for guidance).

- How have you considered equality, diversity, cohesion and integration? (think about the scope of the proposal, who is likely to be affected, equality related information, gaps in information and plans to address, consultation and engagement activities (taken place or planned) with those likely to be affected)

Existing work has considered equalities issues, principally ongoing local and national performance monitoring and evaluation of the 'Supporting Families' programme.

In addition, Leeds has been undertaking an early help review which has included the commissioning team, extensive data analysis, engagement with partners and ongoing consultation which has influenced the development of plans for Earned Autonomy.

More work needs to be done on this important issue so as such we will be undertaking more work as part of implementation and review of these new developments to more deeply understand the potential impacts of these new proposals.

- Key findings

(think about any potential positive and negative impact on different equality characteristics, potential to promote strong and positive relationships between groups, potential to bring groups/communities into increased contact with each other, perception that the proposal could benefit one group at the expense of another)

- Variability in the consistency and quality of equalities monitoring across providers
- Issues with access to services for families with a child with SEND
- Acknowledgement that families from black and minority ethnic groups are under represented in early help services and over represented in statutory services. The funding will allow for continued investment in ensuring services for all children and families are equitable for all communities.

- Actions

(think about how you will promote positive impact and remove/ reduce negative impact)

- Improve equalities monitoring across all LCC provided and commissioned services
- Development of sophisticated, better joined up systems which will be accountable to the early Help Insight Board.
- Ongoing evaluation and review of equalities and cohesion impacts during the continuation of the Earned Autonomy plan – review in March 2023 and 2024.

5. If you are not already considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you will need to carry out an impact assessment.
