

Equality, Diversity, Cohesion and Integration (EDCI) screening

As a public authority we need to ensure that all our strategies, policies, service and functions, both current and proposed have given proper consideration to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

A screening process can help judge relevance and provides a record of both the process and decision. Screening should be a short, sharp exercise that determines relevance for all new and revised strategies, policies, services and functions.

Completed at the earliest opportunity it will help to determine:

- the relevance of proposals and decisions to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.
- whether or not equality, diversity, cohesion and integration is being or has already been considered, and
- whether or not it is necessary to carry out an impact assessment.

3. Relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

All the council's strategies and policies, service and functions affect service users, employees or the wider community – city wide or more local. These will also have a greater or lesser relevance to equality, diversity, cohesion and integration.

The following questions will help you to identify how relevant your proposals are.

When considering these questions think about age, carers, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation. Also those areas that impact on or relate to equality: tackling poverty and improving health and well-being.

Questions	Yes	No
Is there an existing or likely differential impact for the different equality characteristics?		X
Have there been or likely to be any public concerns about the policy or proposal?		X
Could the proposal affect how our services, commissioning or procurement activities are organised, provided, located and by whom?		X
Could the proposal affect our workforce or employment practices?	X
Does the proposal involve or will it have an impact on <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Eliminating unlawful discrimination, victimisation and harassment• Advancing equality of opportunity• Fostering good relations

If you have answered no to the questions above please complete sections 6 and 7

If you have answered yes to any of the above and;

- Believe you have already considered the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration within your proposal please go to section 4.
- Are not already considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration within your proposal please go to section 5.

4. Considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration

If you can demonstrate you have considered how your proposals impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you have carried out an impact assessment.

Please provide specific details for all three areas below (use the prompts for guidance).

- How have you considered equality, diversity, cohesion and integration? (think about the scope of the proposal, who is likely to be affected, equality related information, gaps in information and plans to address, consultation and engagement activities (taken place or planned) with those likely to be affected)

The procedure has the scope to cover all candidates and or employees where we have significant problems recruiting and retaining staff. The process of implementing any payments will be subject to an EIA screening to understand the implications of making any payments and look across the wider workforce to ensure equality across structures. All business case will be evidence based to demonstrate the market factors that are at play which will warrant the additional payments. A robust approval process will be followed to ensure the business case is evidence based and has taken due consideration to equality. The approval process will be subject to usual trade unions consultation.

- Key findings (think about any potential positive and negative impact on different equality characteristics, potential to promote strong and positive relationships between groups, potential to bring groups/communities into increased contact with each other, perception that the proposal could benefit one group at the expense of another)

The option and procedure agreed to make additional payments to support recruitment and retention will not have a negative impact on any protected characteristics. However, individual business cases will need to pay particular attention to the equality of any payment to specific groups to ensure the payment is equitable and there is clear justification as to why the payment should be made and the impact of making the payment with comparable staff group to ensure inequality does not arise. The business cases will need to be robust and evidence based and this should be tested through the EIA screening to ensure there is a clear basis for the decision to make an additional payment to support recruitment and retention.

- Actions (think about how you will promote positive impact and remove/ reduce negative impact)

All individual business cases will require EIA assessment to ensure we protect against equal pay

5. If you are not already considering the impact on equality, diversity, cohesion and integration you will need to carry out an impact assessment.*
