	Brief details of any alternative options considered and rejected by the decision maker at the time of making the decision
	This management software is a niche product, devised specifically for use by Music Services and Music Education Hubs. As such, there are a very limited number of products available.
	The service is not happy with the current providor, given its historically poor support and inability to deliver on the transformational finance and billing system integration. As such the decision to stay with them was rejected.
	The option to build in-house was rejected based on the low value of the product and timescales to implement. The Service have been attempting to update their IT system for over 2 years, and this has hampered their attempts to modernise, drive operational efficiencies, and improve the music offer.
	Following a desk based market appraisal, supplier demos, and peer review involving other local authorities, the Service feel the Eepos Music Hub Management system stands out as best of breed, and has been selected on this basis.
	The option to go to market and select a new supplier has been ratified by Integrated Digital Services Design Authority.
