They indicate that the data will be available in the New Year and for February Area Committees. Each profile has:

- A detailed map of the area and a reference map of Leeds
- Information about different sections of the population
- A neighbourhood index – this summarises information on employment, education, health, safety, the environment and housing for the area and shows how it compares to other areas and Leeds as a whole
- GP registered prevalence of people with cancer, heart disease and lung disease (chronic obstructive pulmonary disease)
- GP reported prevalence of smoking and obesity
- Rates of admission at A&E and admission to hospital (including admission for alcohol related harm)
- Death rates
- Data on adult social care provision and referrals
- Data on the safeguarding of vulnerable adults
- A summary of the types of households and likely present or future health problems, using Acorn segmentation
- A map of health and care facilities such as GP surgeries and care homes

These profiles combine information and analysis from both organisations in new ways. They also make new use of patient data collected by local GPs to give us fresh insights into the needs of people living in each area.
